

King George County Public Schools Budget Factors

The Schools Our Children Deserve

We all want our children to attend schools that are well-resourced and able to provide reliable transportation, nutritious meals, quality instruction, and essential health services. Since the pandemic, our roughly 4,000 students in King George face more challenges than ever, from staff shortages, drops in academic achievement, and additional mental health needs. When looking at our current local spending, it's clear our budget comes up short in meeting the most pressing challenges our students and schools face today. King George can step up to fund our schools at levels that meet our students' needs and better reflect our capacity and commitment to our children.

Budget

In the 2022-2023 school year, King George County spent $12,378 per student, ranking us 125 out of 131 school divisions in the state. Yet, when adjusted for the high cost of living, the spending power drops to $11,477 per student and King George County ranks 126 out of Virginia's 131 school divisions.

King George has seen an increase in local per student spending of $620 or 15% between the 2014-2015 and 2022-2023 school years (adjusted for inflation). Compared to the regional average for local per student spending, King George spent $822 less in the 2022-2023 school year. While King George had a strengthening economy over this time, its level of commitment and effort towards schools did not reflect this.

Outcomes

Many students lost significant ground on state academic achievement between the 2018-2019 and 2022-2023 school years. Students in King George saw a drop in pass rates on the reading SOL test of 10.0% and 38.8% in math - among the largest declines in the state. Yet further disparities exist, with math SOL pass rates dropping 80.7% for English Learners and 60.3% for economically disadvantaged students. King George must do more for its students who face significant barriers to education.

Capacity and Effort

Virtually every locality in the state spends beyond what the state requires it to match (referred to as Required Local Effort) because the state vastly underestimates what it actually costs to run schools. In aggregate, divisions spent 107% above the Required Local Effort, but King George County only spent 62%, which is 45 percentage points below the state average. King George would need to spend $5,896,618 more annually to be at the average state percent above the Required Local Effort (this reflects the low level of effort the division puts into per pupil spending relative to the state).

King George County has capacity to do more to raise adequate revenue for its schools. The locality has a relatively high revenue capacity according to the Virginia Auditor of Public Accounts and a low level of fiscal stress. King George County's property tax effort is 20% below the average state rate.

A one penny property tax increase in King George County would raise approximately $400,000 annually.

Staffing

The teacher vacancy rate in King George was 5.2% as of October 2023, 1.3 percentage points higher than the state average. The overall staffing vacancy rate was 4.3% as of October 2023, adding pressure for all staff to cover shortage areas.

King George had an average budgeted teacher salary of $65,027 in the 2023-2024 school year, which is $5,414 below the state average. Adjusted for the relatively high cost of living in the locality, the average teacher salary drops to $60,294. With high salaries and lower cost of living in nearby communities, on top of a dwindling supply of graduates with teaching degrees, King George is not in a strong position to compete for high-quality educators in the future.
